

Astreya Procurement.

Avoid inventory availability challenges

In today's world companies face inventory availability issues and are not always sourcing the right products from the right suppliers. There is a critical need to have options for the products and services that they are procuring to ensure that there is inventory availability and they are paying the right price for that product or service.

What should you do?

Avoid availability issues through demand planning, correct forecasting methods, and sourcing the right products from the right suppliers.

Astreya's procurement experts help you build and deploy the right procurement strategies and processes to meet your unique business goals and objectives, drive efficiencies, and minimize risk.

Our solution offers important services:

---

Improved accountability and governance

---

A consistent approach across categories

---

Increased quality of service

---

---

Managing supplier contacts to ensure compliance to all SLA's and metrics

---

Improved cost control with demand strategy and planning

---

---

Stronger relationships built with your strategic suppliers in order to reduce supply chain risks

---